

Fall Quarter Registration Set Sept. 15 and 16

Trev - Echoes

A Christian College with a Christian Purpose

VOL. XXII. NO. 4

TREVECCA NAZARENE COLLEGE, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

JULY, 1958

Forty-Seven Seniors Receive Degrees June 10

Six Seniors Elected To Honor Society

Six graduating seniors have been initiated into the Zeta Chapter of Phi Delta Lambda, Nazarene Honor Society.

This is the designation of the national honor society of the colleges of the Church of the Nazarene. Each college of the denomination maintains a chapter of the society, the chapter at TNC being called the Zeta.

Graduates of the college with an average standing of 2.5 out of a possible 3.0 are eligible for election to membership in the Zeta chapter.

Seniors elected this year were: James R. Brown, Paul R. Brown, Charles Lee Eby, Charles Ingram, Gwendolyn Pearson, and James R. Martin.

Under the sponsorship of the Zeta chapter of Phi Delta Lambda there is maintained at the college a scholastic honor society, membership in which is determined on the basis of one year's scholarship. The minimum standing required is 2.5.

The college honor society for 1958-59 includes: Joyce Anderson, Robbie Brown, Ann Clayton, Nelzene Edmonds, Louise Erwin, Eleanor Knotts, Janey Sue Little, Phyllis Lobb, and Dave Wofford.

The high school honor society for 1958-59 includes: Bettye Dent, Arnold Spruill, Lillie McCullough, Brenda Goff, Mary Beth Richardson, and Bonnie Ennis.

All-School Project Meets With Success

The all-school project has accomplished its goal with the purchase of an electrical bell system now being installed to replace the antiquated bell tower.

Approximately $875 was raised by three classes, the high school department, and three clubs to go on the original cost of $1,200. The college will supplement the amount of $325 to make it possible to install this much-needed bell system.

The old bell system, a big iron bell in a wooden frame tower, has been in use since 1932. As the campus has expanded it has grown inadequate in announcing the beginning of classes. Classes located in the Fine Arts Building on the north end of the campus could not hear the bell ring. This caused some confusion when some classes delayed in dismissing.

The electrical bell system will include a bell in each building. All buildings will be connected with a clock in the Administration Building which will ring the bells automatically.

The old bell tower has a sentimental value, and it is hoped that it will remain in working order to be used on special occasions.

The Freshmen Class led the contributions with $250 on this project. The Senior Class contributed $125, with the T.A.A. leading the organizations with $100.

The new bell system will be in operation by the beginning of fall term.

Dr. G. B. Williamson Is Commencement Speaker

Dr. G. B. Williamson

Dr. G. B. Williamson, general superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, was the commencement speaker for the graduating class on June 10.

Dr. Williamson told the graduating seniors that Holiness helps pave the way to education. Holiness and education go hand in hand, and prepare the mind for the reception of truth.

He urged the seniors not to lose sight of the humanities during a period when science is being emphasized.

General Superintendent Williamson has served in this capacity since 1946. He has also served as president of the General NYPS. He represented Nazarene youth at a world conference at Amsterdam, Holland, in 1932. He has also served as pastor for sixteen years.

Dr. Williamson was president of Eastern Nazarene College from 1936 to 1945. He became pastor of the Kansas City First Church in 1945.

Dr. Williams has written several books. His most popular is Overseers of the Flock, a textbook in pastoral theology. Three others, The Labor of Love, dealing with evangelism; Roy T. Williams, Servant of God, and Preaching Scriptural Holiness, have won widespread acclaim.

Honorary doctoral degrees have been conferred upon him by Bethany Nazarene College and Eastern Nazarene College.

President Mackey Presents Degrees To One of Largest Classes

One of the largest graduating classes in the history of the college was graduated from Trevecca Nazarene College June 10.

Dr. A. B. Mackey, president, presented degrees to the following seniors:

Bachelor of Arts

James Raymond Brown, Paul Roland Brown, Robbie Johnson Brown, Lyle Arnold Campbell, Daisy LaDell Carter, Elizabeth Geraldine Clay, Edwin Leroy Cloud, Charles Rolen Cork, Thomas McClellan Cox, Louise Shoaf Cravens, Doris Jeanette Decker, Charles

Lee Eby, Joseph Wesley Eby, Doris Nelzene Edmonds, Mary Ann Evans, Tommy Joe Garner, Jettie Clinton Griffin, Roberta Anna Griffin, Nina Griggs Gunter, Edra Ann Hammond, John Franklin Hay, Denzil Ray Huff, Charles Edward Ingram, Bertha Inez Jackson.

Willard Clayton Johnson, Herman Clayton Lawrence, Mary Lou McCormick, James Robert Martin, Ronald Ernie Martin, James Leonard Mathews, Merle Myron Mead, Wayne Cooper Murphy, Martha Gwendolyn Pearson, Janice Elaine Penix, Robert Eugene Perry, Tillman Roosevelt Pruiett, Donald William Pyles, Billy H. Ring, Elmer Leroy Rogers, Arnold Roland, Jr., William Eugene Shelton, Bobbie (Continued on Page 4, Col. 5)

Award Day Brings Honor To Students

The last chapel service is one of the highlights of the school year. During this program the awards are presented to the students qualifying for them during the school year. The awards for the school year 1957-58 were awarded June 10.

The highest award is the Citizenship Award. Winners of this award were Helen Rood Leeper, student council secretary, and Lee Eby, student council president.

The Leadership Award was presented to Janey Little and Donnie Smith.

The General Activities award was presented to Jan Penix and Jim Martin.

The Sportsmanship Award was presented to Roberta Stogner and Wendell Poole.

The Attitudes Award was presented to Lucille Jones and Wayne Murphy.

The Religious Activities Award was presented to Nancy Sheridan and Dave Wofford.

Who's Who

Five seniors were presented certificates of membership into Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. They were: Lee Eby, Nina Gunter, John Hay, Gwendolyn Pearson, and Asa Sparks.

Class of the Year

One of the most sought after awards is the Class of the Year award. It is given to the class that makes the most points in participating in activities related to the school.

(Continued on Page 4, Col. 1)

Dr. A. B. Mackey

Listed In Who's Who

Dr. A. B. Mackey, TNC's president, has been listed in the 1958-59 edition of WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA. For sixty years this book has given a short biographical sketch of every American of note.

Dr. Mackey is in his twenty-first year as president of Trevecca. He has filled the positions of professor, business administrator, and college president.

The entries in WHO'S WHO IN AMERICA are picked by a staff who work the year around checking the ones they list. Names are checked and rechecked, professional societies are contacted and biographies are examined until only three out of every 10,000 Americans are left to fill a place in what is considered America's most authoritative reference work on the nation's famous men.

Rev. C. E. Shumake Addresses Seniors

Rev. C. E. Shumake, district superintendent of the Tennessee District, presented the Baccalaureate Address to the senior class, June 8, 1958, at 2:30 P. M. A large group of relatives and friends attended this service.

Before coming to Tennessee as district superintendent, Rev. Shumake served as superintendent of the North Carolina and Alabama Districts.

Dr. Stunck Returns To Faculty Staff

Dr. Maude Allen Stunck has returned to the faculty staff for the next school year after a two years' absence.

Dr. Stunck was graduated from the University of Michigan with an A.B. degree. She received the M.A. from Vanderbilt University, and the Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago. She has been instructor in oriental and classical languages at Northern Baptist Theological Seminary, Chicago Training School, Marion College, Olivet Nazarene College, and Trevecca Nazarene College.

She will be teaching in the Language Department here.

Dr. Stunck has been instrumental in gathering material for several publications for the Nazarene Publishing House. Her name appears as one of the authors of Exploring the New Testament.

Recent visitors on our campus were Miss Gillie, librarian, and Miss Flougher, instructor in musical instruments, at Olivet Nazarene College. With them was Mrs. Mary Benson, former Trevecca student.

TREV-ECHOES

Official Publication, Trevecca Nazarene College, Nashville, Tennessee, published quarterly by the students of Trevecca Nazarene College under the sponsorship of the Journalism Class. Second-class mail privileges authorized at Nashville, Tennessee.

Purpose: To mirror the spiritual, academic, and social activities on campus.
 Editor-in-Chief: Jack Phillips
 Business Manager: Gene Reynolds
 Faculty Advisors: Mrs. K. W. Phillips and Mr. V. Neil Richardson

Greatest Years Of My Life; I Reluctantly Pass On

(Editor's note: This article was written by a college junior about his three years spent as a student at Trevecca Nazarene College.)

The last year of high school was quickly coming to an end and I realized I must make a final decision as to which college I would attend. Being a Christian and a member of the Church of the Nazarene with a special call of God on my heart to serve God and the church on the foreign mission field, I first considered the Nazarene Church colleges.

After careful consideration I decided that Trevecca would become my college alma mater. Many reasons influenced this decision. The main one was the reports I had heard of the deep spiritual life of the faculty and students, and one of my aims for college was to grow spiritually as well as intellectually.

In the fall of 1955 I enrolled along with other freshmen to start the four-year trek that would be culminated with a college degree. On becoming a member of the student body I lost my individuality to some degree. Yet, I was still a person in the eyes of the administration and faculty. It seemed that I meant more to them than just a statistic on the enrollment sheet. This is one of the important things in adjusting to a new environment, a feeling of belonging. With the treatment I received at the hands of my professors and classmates it was very easy to feel that I belonged.

I soon realized what some of the upperclassmen meant when they said that you really had to study in college. Though there was a personal relationship between professor and student the classes were carried on in a formal manner. The professors seemed dedicated to the cause of teaching. Sometimes it all became frustrating to a college freshman just out of high school. The curriculum was geared to a high rate of speed, and the lagging student soon found it impossible to keep up.

Though it seemed that the main purpose of the professor was to teach his course, the fact that the spiritual life of the student must be cultivated was not neglected. Prayer before class was a must on the agenda of each class. Personal counseling was always available when the student needed it.

One event of the day was a must on everyone's schedule. That was the daily chapel service. The singing of hymns, testimonies, and special speakers were very inspiring. And this daily event plays an important part in the life of each student.

I soon discovered that no realm in the life of the student was left unnoticed. Social events were many and provided an outlet for each student to express himself.

By the time I found myself halfway through the first year many adjustments had been made, but yet many more needed to be made.

The sophomore year came with a wider scope in studies and many more responsibilities. Many of my freshmen classmates had not returned and the class was mostly made up of those who really meant business. Still the courses remained difficult. The spiritual side of the student's life was still emphasized strongly.

The third year brought on an even wider scope and a more concentrated effort in studies and more responsibilities. Still the whole personality of the student was considered. The spiritual, the intellectual, and the social were all given a chance to advance. I suddenly realize that I have only one more year to spend at Trevecca and a feeling of regret sweeps over me.

These three years have been the greatest years of my life. I feel that my intellectual knowledge has expanded, that my spiritual life has deepened, and that I have become more socially adjusted. I will always be grateful to godly men and women who have been my instructors in the courses of study.

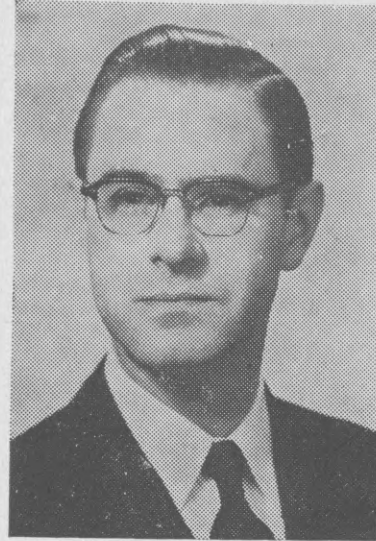

A deeper love and appreciation for my church has been cultivated. I, without hesitancy, say, that Trevecca will greatly be responsible for any work that I can accomplish in the great vineyard of the Lord.

Profiles of TNC's Deans

Rev. K. W. Phillips, A Man of Principle

Stalwart character and high Christian principles best portray Rev. K. W. Phillips, TNC's new Dean of Admissions and Director of Counseling.

Rev. Phillips, former Dean of Students, has been appointed to the position of Dean of Admissions by the Executive Board. His former deanship will be filled by Rev. Leon Chambers who will assume the position at the beginning of fall quarter.

Rev. K. W. Phillips

Along with his new duties he will be teaching in the Religion Department next year.

Rev. Phillips was graduated with the Th.B. degree from Trevecca Nazarene College, and the B.S. degree from Middle Tennessee State College. He received the B.D. degree from the Nazarene Theological Seminary, and the M.A. degree from Peabody College.

The duties of the Dean of Admissions and Director of Counseling are varied and many. He will direct the Freshman Guidance Program and the special personnel services which include marriage counseling, health service, employment guidance, speech improvement, reading improvement, military guidance, and social guidance.

Rev. Phillips is respected by students and faculty alike, and has done a commendable job as Dean of Students. His outstanding ability in the field of counseling has made him a very capable person in this field.

The students and faculty want to say Thank You, Rev. Phillips, for your faithful service to us over these past years.

Rev. Leon Chambers, A Man of Loyalty

Distinction, integrity, loyalty, intelligence and a radiant spiritual life portray the person of Rev. Leon Chambers, TNC's new Dean of Students.

Rev. Chambers, who teaches in the Religion Department, was appointed to the deanship post during the last Board of Trustees meeting in April. He succeeds Rev. K. W. Phillips who has been appointed Dean of Admissions.

REV. LEON CHAMBERS

Rev. Chambers served as superintendent of the Gulf Central District, which consists of the Negro work of the Church of the Nazarene in the Southern states. He

(Continued on Page 3, Col 2)

From The Editor's Desk

Editing A Newspaper is Fun; Helen, I Turn The Duties To You

By Jack Phillips

Memoirs of a college newspaper editor . . .

First, to put it mildly, it has been fun, challenging, and enjoyable to be editor of Trev-Echoes for the past school year, in spite of the hard work and frustrating moments that only a newspaper editor can experience.

As the masthead reads our purpose has been to: Mirror the Spiritual, Academic, and Social life on campus. We hope we have not failed in doing this.

Our news columns have been accurate, and the editorials have been fair in dealing with any issue. Though the paper did not take sides with many issues it has used its

Student Enjoys Wonderful Year

Dear Editor,

This has been a wonderful year, hasn't it? I've had so much fun this year, learned a little and have grown spiritually by leaps and bounds.

I'd like to let you and everyone else know that Trevecca is my favorite college—and I'm glad it is, or I'd be the most miserable person alive. I like the good, clean, spiritual atmosphere that is prevalent on our campus. I like the people here—the students are so nice and the most wonderful friends! I like the faculty—they know their "stuff" and are kind and understanding. I love my housemother, Mrs. Orndoff—she is a real pal and a wonderful "Mother" substitute. I like our campus—the trees and flowers are just beautiful and a reminder of the great Creator we serve.

My prayer for our school is that God shall always be first, and that our hearts will be in perfect harmony with His; that our beings will be saturated with divine love and our heads will have enough common sense to live the best all-around Christian life possible.

—Mildred Pearson

IV. THE COMPULSION OF THE SPIRIT

By REV. JOHN KNIGHT

The challenge of our day demands consecration for service and commitment of the self. But these cannot be sustained without the compulsion of the Spirit.

The story is told of two English explorers who one day came upon an Egyptian tomb. The tomb had been closed for three thousand years. When the two Englishmen opened it, they discovered an exquisitely carved coffin of a little child. Over it was this inscription: "Oh my life, my love, my little one, would God I had died for thee."

Look — there is Jesus Christ hanging upon a cross, as He entreatingly beseeches us, "Give me thine heart." We have the chance to say to Him now, "My Life, my Love . . . Would God I had died for Thee and with Thee."

A member of Parliament heard power to influence changes that it deemed necessary.

Because of the diversity of interest represented on campus by the many students it has been impossible to please everyone all the time. The paper has tried to give the students a limited coverage on national and international happenings. Possibly more so than ever before. The events of the earth satellites were followed along with other events of importance, both local and world-wide.

The publishing of the paper has been made possible by a hard working staff. The staff has served faithfully and I want to say a big THANK YOU to everyone.

Gene Reynolds has served as business manager for the paper doing a commendable job in this capacity. Gene has been elected to serve as business manager for the Darda for the next school term.

My valuable assistants, Helen Burch and Patsy Jones, have worked hard and faithfully at the job, and it is very much appreciated by the editor. Giving assignments to the reporters, writing stories, proof reading, typing, and taking care of the correspondence were a few of their many jobs. Helen has been elected as editor of the Trev-Echoes for the next school year.

The sports coverage was handled by Montez Lobb. He has been very capable in this job because he was active in the sports program.

Also I mention Mrs. K. W. Phillips, whom I have enjoyed working with, and Mr. V. Neil Richardson, both faculty advisors.

Then there is the staff of reporters who have been the backbone of the whole operation. I would like to say a big THANK YOU to the many reporters who have served faithfully, and sometimes beyond the call of duty.

See why editing a college newspaper is fun and enjoyable. The ones I have had privilege to work with have made it so.

Helen, I turn the editor's chair over to you with its many duties and wish you good luck.

Gladstone plead for the love and brotherhood of Ireland. As the impassioned statesman took his seat, a rose dropped from his coat lapel. When the members of the House had gone, this man went and recovered the rose. Until the day he died he carried the rose in a leather case. Said he: "It kept me mindful of a great heart pleading for a better world." We must have in our heart the Rose of Sharon. He pled with His blood for us—He suffered for us. Whatever the cost, our lives must share His passion!

Here, Lord, I give myself away—'Tis all that I can do.

Only the inner compulsion of the Holy Spirit can constrain us to full commitment. No external pressure, no external compulsion can sustain the burden for souls. It is that holy urge from within that drives us on when all external pressure is released. May the "love of Christ constrain" us!

We Must Be Ambassadors For Christ

An Ambassador—this stooped grey-haired little man under constant observation. Our concept of ambassador makes no room for this figure. And the bonds—he is chained! Yet the Apostle Paul labels himself an Ambassador in Bonds. For whom? King Jesus, of course.

Necessary handicaps are faced by Paul. As a political prisoner he is not mistreated but lives, under constant guard, in a rented house. His friends come and go freely listening intently and prayerfully. The curious come to stare and stay to be instructed in this new way. The guards, manacled to his sides, feign disinterest but find themselves caught up under the dynamic of his message.

Though his active missionary life is sacrificed he is not silenced—nor is his message stilled. The truth burns out of his heart to kindle a fire in the western world that has swept on through the centuries.

We are free! No bonds hold us—neither physical, political nor spiritual. We may come and go at will, our nation historically smiles upon religion, and we are spiritually free through the power of God. As free men then—are we witnessing? The title and task of ambassador have been passed down to us.

In a direct paradox to Paul the ministers of the C. W. A. find many of their audiences are bound—spiritually by cords of blindness and physically because of wrong doing. This "captive" audience can be released at least in the spiritual realm by the power of the living King whose ambassadors we are.

Let us rise then at once and fill our high appointment as ambassadors of King Jesus that the bondsmen of sin may find new life.

News of Nashville Churches

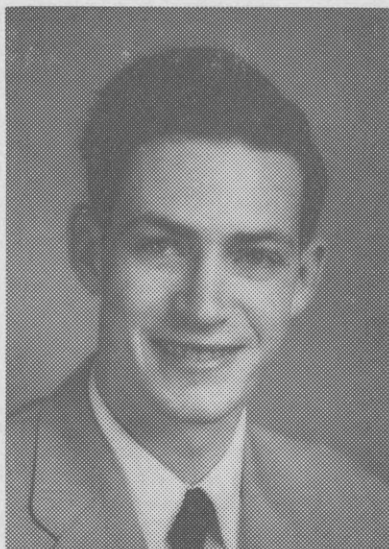

On Sunday morning August 17, 1958, General Superintendent G. B. Williamson and District Superintendent C. E. Shumake dedicated Radnor Church of the Nazarene. The new church is valued at $75,000.

Also on the same Sunday afternoon Dr. Williamson and Rev. C. E. Shumake conducted a dedication service at Bell Road Church of the Nazarene.

General Superintendent Williamson also presided over the Tennessee District assembly at Nashville First Church August 20-22, 1958.

The recent revival held by College Hill Nazarene Church was an apparent success. The whole college hilltop seemed to benefit by the services. Rev. Guthrie Hughes of Louisville, Kentucky, was the evangelist and delivered a most heart warming series of messages. During the revival souls sought God for saving and sanctifying power as well as many who called

Rex Houston Is Re-Elected CWA President; Dave Wofford Vice President

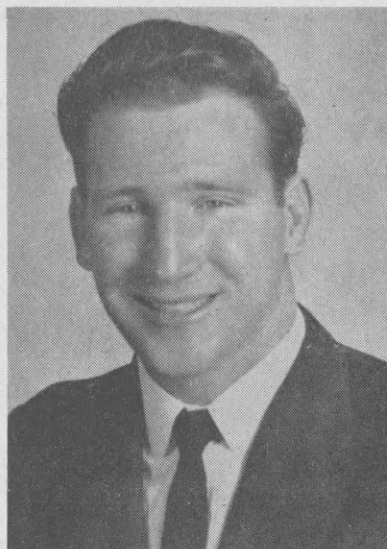

REX HOUSTON

Rex Houston was re-elected president of the Christian Workers Association for the school year 1958-59. Rex, from Boone, Iowa, has done a commendable job in leading the CWA this past year.

Dave Wofford, from Columbia, South Carolina, was re-elected to a second term as vice-president. Dave, a religion major and honor student, has taken a big part in the operations of the CWA this past year.

Nancy Sheridan, from Lookout Mountain, Tennessee, was re-elected to the office of secretary. Serving as follow-up secretary will be Irmgard Haer. Pat Losey was elected reporter for the organization, and Eddie West was elected treasurer.

DAVE WOFFORD

A new office under the direction of Winston Hatcliff will be added to the CWA beginning this fall. This will be the visitation department which will be responsible for visiting those who have received spiritual help in the weekly services.

The CWA is a vital part in the training program of TNC students and through it flows spiritual help to those in need.

Four from Trevecca Attend Theology Workshop, July 1-4

Members of Trevecca's theological faculty took part in the Workshop on Theology, held at Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Oklahoma, July 1-4, at which time members of the theology and religion faculties of six of the Nazarene colleges participated.

The workshop was initiated by the Council of Education and was planned with the assistance of the Department of Education. The purpose was "to understand fully what the Articles of Faith of the church mean, to seek to lift up the principal problems being raised by students today, and to find ways to interpret our doctrinal position."

Dr. William Greathouse of Trevecca presented the address, "On Entire Sanctification." Other faculty members from Trevecca who attended were: Rev. M. E. Redford, Rev. K. W. Phillips, and Rev. John L. Knight, Jr.

Rev. Leon Chambers

(Continued from Page 2, Col. 2)

has also served as district NYPS president of the Alabama District.

The appointment given Rev. Chambers shows the Board's confidence in his ability. The role that the dean of students plays is very important. We feel that he is capable of the job and that the Board made a wise decision in selecting him.

on the Lord for a new touch of fire on their hearts. In some way or another all who called on the Lord for help received, and those who sought, found help in the Lord.

Mrs. V. Neil Richardson, Helpful Postmistress

MRS. V. NEIL RICHARDSON

The one person most responsible for the happiness of TNC students is Mrs. V. Neil Richardson, postmistress.

Mrs. Richardson, though small of stature, stands very high in the eyes of the students. A flashing smile and always a word of encouragement characterize her as she goes about her daily job of sorting mail, acting as telephone operator, and hundreds of other things that must be done in the general office.

One of the important sideline jobs that Mrs. Richardson does is helping students find jobs. Businessmen will call the school offering work to students and then it does not take the postmistress long to have some student working.

Mrs. Richardson, wife of Mr. V. Neil Richardson, business manager of TNC, has been manager of the general office for four years. The Richardsons have three children: Mary Beth, Victor and Carol. All are students at Trevecca.

Library To Be Constructed Soon; Named To Honor Dr. and Mrs. Mackey

Soon to be under construction is the new $200,000 Mackey Library, to be named in honor of Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Mackey.

The new library building will be built of stone and brick to match the other buildings on campus. It will be located where the president's home now is to keep the buildings in a quadrangle.

The building will have a basement and two other stories. It will include 22,000 plus feet of floor space.

The front of the building will face in a westward direction. The east and west sides will have few windows, while the north side will be mostly glass. According to Mrs. Mackey, librarian, this is the scientific design for a library. All light should come in the reading room from the north. The windows on the east and west sides cause a glare.

The basement will include faculty offices, a faculty lounge and kitchenette. There will also be stack rooms for books and room for expansion in later years.

The first floor, which is the main floor, will include the main reading room and will seat approximately 100 students. There will be individual study tables along with the group study tables. The checkout desk will be located here for books. Book stacks will also be located here.

The second floor will consist of the reading room for periodicals, which will seat approximately 75, librarian's office, secretary's office, and work room for the staff members. One of the main features will be the Trevecca Room where all historical data on Trevecca will be kept.

No announcement has been made as to when the new library will be finished.

My Playmate

The sun's a happy one, you know;
He has my games all planned.
He is a welcome guest in mine
and other children's land.
But yet sometimes I'm quite in doubt,
if really he's my friend.
When early in the summer's morn,
his nose comes pokin' in.

I'm very, very, tired, you know—
a working man—age eight,
And when sometimes I play a bear
and snuggle up till late,
I see him coming through the room;
I see his golden head—
Oh! how he tries his very best to drag me out of bed.

I feel his fingers on my back;
He's tickling at my nose.
While other warmer fuzzy beams go skipping to my toes.
I pull the covers o'er my head,
an' hope he'd go away.
No matter how I wish and plead my friend has come to stay.

He puts his arms around me, and he gives me such a squeeze.
He makes Oh! so very warm;
I jump upon my knees,
And bounce about a little bit
and hop out on the floor,
And pull my little blue-jeans on and gallop to the door.

When after I have looked about,
And seen his smiling face,
I rush back in and wash before my daddy says the grace.
And all the while I eat my eggs,
my friend plays with my spoon.
He wants to have me come and play;
my mother says, "Too soon!"

But when at last I kiss my mom,
like Daddy does each day,
I, too, go out and do "my work"
(my mother calls it play)
And as I build great highways, and
I climb the cherry tree
My faithful friend who wakes me is the friend who plays with me.

Written by Thomas Reid and

Denzil Huff Wins Speech Contest

Denzil Huff, a speech minor from Ludlow, Kentucky, won first place in a contest sponsored by the W. C. T. U. of America, which brought him a prize of $25 and a trip to Washington, D. C. to compete in a national speech contest.

The contest was held at TNC and students from other colleges in Nashville participated.

The subject of Mr. Huff's speech was "Total Abstinence from Liquor."

"The invincibility of either a person or a nation lies not only in the outward might but also in the inward purity of that person or nation," he said.

"Arnold Toynbee, a famous historian, listed nineteen civilizations which have flourished and disappeared. He points out that only three of these were overcome by outside forces; sixteen of them decayed from within. The outward manifestations of this inner decay have been three-fold; namely, drunkenness, idleness and immorality," Denzil pointed out.

There are "approximately four million addictive and chronic alcoholics in America today and from ten to eleven billion dollars spent on alcoholic beverages in the United States yearly," he said.

"Are we going to allow the decaying influence of drink to continue to eat away the life of our nation," he challenged the audience.

We must take "an individual interest in the alcoholics themselves," he said.

Denzil will go to Washington in August or September to compete in the national contest.

presented in the Children's Literature Class, Summer Quarter, 1958.

Summer School At Trevecca

Summer School at TNC.

Take a visit with me over the campus during a typical summer day while summer school is in session at Trevecca.

The sun has been up a couple of hours already, but it is still only 7 a.m. We see several students making their way to classes. The first class is just beginning to start the day off.

The big bell sounds across the campus as a student passes the tower and pulls the rope.

Since summer school is a doubling up of the regular time required for classes, two hours must be spent in class for every one hour credit.

The cafeteria serves breakfast and a few of the students get up early enough to take advantage of this.

We sit under the shade of the big Chinese elms on a soft carpet of grass, but find that it gets very hot even in the shade. We notice many of the students going to the library, and wonder if there is any other attraction there besides books.

We follow the students to the library and find that the extra attraction is air conditioning. Quickly we enter and enjoy the cool air and notice that the students are really down to business studying. We feel sorry for those students who have gone home, not getting the opportunity to study in an air-conditioned library.

Today is Tuesday and chapel will be at 11 a.m. Singing and a de-ters in basketball. Letters were presented to: Nina Gunter, Kathy Hemmerly, Jo Lynn Armstrong, Carolyn Wiley, Barbara Greer, Esther White, Beverly Forman, Roberta Stogner, and Mary Beth Richardson.

Trophies

Trophies were presented to the societies who had won the championship in football and basketball.

The football trophy was presented to the Delta Society.

The basketball trophy was presented to the Alpha Society.

The girl's basketball trophy was presented to the Delta Society.

Choir Awards

Professor Ramon Unruh presented the choir awards to: Charles Cork, Wesely Eby, Edra Hammond, John Hay, Jim Martin, Jan Penix, Donnie Smith, and Ed Whittington.

High School Awards

The highest award to be presented by the high school is the Citizenship Award. Judy Johnson and Gary Jones won this award.

The Leadership Award was presented to Lillie Lou McCullough and Jim Hampton.

The General Activities Award was presented to Joyce Rudd and Arnold Spruill.

The Sportsmanship Award was presented to Mary Beth Richardson and Roger Costa.

The Attitudes Award was presented to Sylvia Moss and Wendell Shirley.

The Religious Activities Award was presented to Bettye Dent and William Rhodes.

Dr. Adams Is Dean Of Teen-age Institute

Dr. Homer J. Adams, dean at Trevecca, served as dean of the International Teen-age Institute at Estes Park, Colorado, in July. He is N. Y. P. S. Council member from this zone.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Adams and Jimmy. After the Institute they toured sections of the Southwest.

Dr. Adams has served as dean at Trevecca since 1954. He holds the Ph.D. degree from George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville.

votional period bring inspiration. As we look around we realize that almost everyone who is going to summer school has taken advantage of this opportunity. There will be another chapel service Thursday.

It is almost noon now and dinner will be served in the cafeteria in a few minutes. The students make their way to the cafeteria where Mr. Klintstiver and his staff have prepared the noon meal.

The students receive mail service twice a day, in the morning and afternoon. We notice many happy faces as students rush to the post office to receive their letters from friends at home.

Classes are dismissed for the day and the campus becomes still during the hot summer afternoons. But by mid-afternoon activity seems to be picking up again. The badminton net is put up, and the croquet sets are brought out and the students leave their studies for a time of recreation.

Possibly watermelons will be brought out from off ice and everyone will enjoy a big slice of cold watermelon before the evening is over.

If it is Saturday night we will see the students assembled in front of the Administration Building and Rex Houston leading the weekly prayer meeting.

We notice that the CWA carries on its regular Christian work during the week and on Sunday.

Well, the 10:10 p.m. bell rings and the campus again becomes deserted except for the figure of the night watchman. A breeze sweeps across the hilltop, bringing a sigh of relief to the campus that witnesses a year-around schedule of studying and activity.

How To Do Away With A Prof

1. Look him straight in the eye when he's lecturing and take notes like mad and he will teach himself to death within a few weeks.

2. Brag on his lectures after class and he will work himself to death preparing.

3. Get the school to pay him a living wage. He has probably been on starvation wages so long that he will eat himself to death.

4. Make straight A's and he will die of a heart attack.

5. If your interest picks up in class, he will become so effective that another college will take him off your hands.

Cooner-Greene Vows Are Said June 17

MRS. PAUL GREENE

An event of wide interest was the wedding June 17, 1958, of Miss Mabel Cooner, speech instructor of Trevecca, and Rev. Paul Greene of Kentucky at the College Hill Church of the Nazarene in Nashville. The ceremony was performed by Dr. William Greathouse.

The church was decorated with greenery, white candles and a large arrangement of white gladioluses and pink carnations.

The bride wore a white satin gown with a lace yoke, and carried a white Bible with a white orchid and pink roses. Her attendants carried blue, pink, and white daisies.

Herald Greene, Jr. was best man and Elzora Cooner the bride's maid of honor. Attendants were Joyce and Ronnie Greene. Mrs. Rose Pickard was soprano soloist, Miss Barbara McClain, organist, and Miss Johnnie Jernigan, violinist.

The wedding was followed by a reception in the college banquet room.

The bride and groom are making their home at 79 Lester Avenue, Nashville, Tennessee.

The Martins Keep Campus In Shape

If anything needs to be fixed, and can be fixed, you can feel assured that it will be fixed by the Martins. Whether it is fixing broken heaters, or keeping the buildings and grounds spic and span, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Martin will be on hand getting the job done.

Mr. Martin with his staff of workers takes care of the lighting, all repairs ranging from broken tile in the showers to replacing broken windows, and keeping the campus looking beautiful. He has an average of six workers on his maintenance staff during the school months.

Mrs. Martin is in charge of keeping the buildings clean. Included on the agenda of everyday's cleaning are the Administration Building, Hardy Hall, McKay Hall, McClurken Building and the Fine Arts Building. She has a crew of girls who help her sweep, mop, wax, and dust. The buildings have kept a clean look all year, thanks to Mrs. Martin and her staff.

The Trev-Echoes office located in the Fine Arts Building has been kept spic and span with the efforts of Mrs. Martin and her workers this year. The editor would like to thank those responsible for this service.

It would be hard to do without

Three Groups Tour Southeastern Zone

REV. CLIFFORD KEYS, SR.

Rev. Clifford Keys, Sr., field representative, has three groups touring the Southeastern Zone representing Trevecca Nazarene College this summer.

These groups will be traveling in nine states and will visit over three hundred churches. The object of these groups is to solicit students to attend Trevecca and to secure funds for the new Mackey Library soon to be under construction.

The ladies' trio traveling with Miss Marie Perry includes: Beverly Forman, Dolly Smith, and Edith Mingledorff.

The men's trio traveling with Rev. W. A. Peck includes: Paul Jackson, Sammy Phipps, and Herman Rouse.

Rev. and Mrs. Keys are accompanying a second ladies' trio which includes: Barbara Martin, Berma DuBose, and Yvonne Oakes.

Forty-Seven

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 5) Wynelle Smith, Eugene R. Smith, Samuel Southerland, Asa Howard Sparks, William Sampson Taliaferro, Dallas Dewey Wise.

High School Diploma

Rexlen Ann Bathery, Nancy Kay Casto, Mary Ruth Cottrell, Carol Lee Craig, Jack Lindon Frost, David Nathan Hale, James Clifford Hampton, Lois Jean Harless, Judith Mai Johnson, Margaret G. Jones, E. Hershel Letlow, David Leland Lynch.

Lillie Lou McCullough, Sylvia Ruth Moss, Mary Elizabeth Richardson, Dona Joyce Rudd, Windell Leon Shirley, Carl Owen Smith, Glaphre Kay Spencer, Earl Linwood Sprowls, Arnold Richard Spruill, Carolyn Delois Spry, Charles L. Thomas, Jr., Henry Thomas Taylor.

Tennessee District Elects Professor John L. Knight N. Y. P. S. President

Rev. John L. Knight was recently elected as president of the Tennessee District N. Y. P. S. His election came at the district N. Y. P. S. convention August 18, 1958, at Nashville First Church. Rev. Knight is at present the pastor of Richland Nazarene Church here in Nashville. Also he will continue to teach some classes at Trevecca.

the Martins along with their hard workers. Thanks for your efforts in keeping our campus in working order.

T Room Is Popular Place

At least thrice a day one of the most popular spots on campus is the college cafeteria and T Room.

There arrayed before you as if by magic are choices of fine meats, vegetables, salads and desserts.

Little do most of the students know of the time and work that goes into the preparation of these foods. For example the pastries and desserts are started at 5:30 a.m., and until 12:00 there is constant activity behind the sliding windows—vegetables to be cleaned and prepared, meats to be cooked and sliced, salads to be tossed and garnished and last, the final scurry to place the steaming food in the steam table.

Equally as busy is the T Room. Here creations to tempt even the most finicky appetites are prepared; ice cream and short orders are the fare of the day here.

So, next time you look down at your food think of the time and work that have gone into its preparation.

Hats off to Mr. Klintstiver and his co-workers!

Award Day Brings

(Continued from Page 1)

The Senior class was presented the award with the Freshmen class earning the honorable mention. Club of the Year

The Club of the Year is selected on the same basis as the Class of the Year. The Music Club won the Club of the Year award and the Literary Club won honorable mention.

Athletic Awards

Dr. Adams presented letter awards to the boys who won letters in the different sports. They were: Ed Whittington, Paul Jackson, Roy Miller, Wayne Clancy, Ronald Morris, Toby Williams, Wendell Poole, Charles Decker, Moody Gunter, Jim Hampton, and James Spruill.

Miss McClain presented letter awards to the girls who won let-