TREVECCA NAZARENE COLLEGE, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

April 16, 1959

A Cappella Choir Tours Zone April 3-15

Washington Stop Planned

The thirty-eight-voice A Cappella Choir left Friday afternoon, April 3, for its annual tour. This year the singing group will visit our Nazarene churches in five states of the Southeastern Educational Zone. The only stop in Tennessee will be at Chattanooga. Continuing eastward, the choir sings for five congregations in North Carolina: Charlotte, High Point Calvary, High Point First, Greensboro, and Burlington. Leaving the Tar Heel State, the big "gold-plated" Tennessee Coach Bus will head for Virginia. Norfolk, Richmond, and Arlington are the cities that are to be visited. A special treat for choir members will be the stop in Washington, D. C., where the many points of interest will be viewed. Morgantown, Weirton, Parkersburg, South Side, Parkersburg First, Charleston, and Huntington are the West Virginia churches that will hear the choir program. The final days of the tour will be spent in Kentucky at Ashland, Covington, and the last service will be at Louisville on April 15.

Following the Religious Classic section of numbers, Rev. C. E. Keys will speak to each congregation. A new feature on the program will be the showing of slides of the scenic campus. God's Trombones, the speakers being Miss Joyce Woodward, prayer leader, and Rev. John Hay, preacher, is to compose the second group rendered. The favorite gospel songs of the church make up the final portion of the concert.

Accompanying the choir is the director, Professor Ramon R. Unruh, the accompanist, Miss Barbara McClain, and the "choir mom," Mrs. C. E. Keys.

Pray that your representatives will be a blessing to your home churches.

Progress Is Made Toward Invested Endowment

To be a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools Trevecca must have an income of $12,000.00 from invested endowments. Under the capable leadership of Dr. A. B. Mackey this is becoming a reality.

The building at the foot of the college drive is Scott Bolt and Screw Company. This gives the college an income of $7,200.00 a year.

We are now negotiating a lease similar to the Scott one with another Nashville firm for an annual consideration of $3,300.00. The terms of the lease are acceptable to the Nashville firm and will doubtless be ratified by the Board of Trustees at the annual meeting this month. Construction should begin in May and the building should be ready for occupancy in the fall. This will place us within $1,200.00 of the needed $12,000.00. A house in Chattanooga, Tennessee, has been given to the college. This will help supply endowment needs.

Dr. Mackey Is Special Services Speaker

During the month of March, Dr. Mackey visited two of our preachers meetings. On March 2-4 he was in the South Carolina District Preachers meeting which was held at West Main Church of the Nazarene, Rock Hill, South Carolina. On March 16-18 he visited Western Ohio District meeting in Dayton, Ohio. On March 29, Dr. Mackey was guest speaker at a city-wide Easter sunrise service at Dothan, Alabama.

High School Seniors Present "The Tinker"

"The Tinker," a dramatic comedy by Fred Eastman, was presented on April 10, 1959, by the high school Senior Class.

The play was the story of a modern American family who have their values of life centered around money. Little else seemed to matter to them until the Tinker took the family apart and put them together again by his St. Francis' philosophy of life.

Members of the cast were: The Tinker, Harold McWhorter; David Whitney, Billy Joe Wooten, Ethel Whitney, Anita Hamilton, Marjorie Whitney, Jeanette Mitchell, Jack Whitney, Roger Costa, Jeremy Whitney, Frank Ward, Jane Seymour, and Brenda Goff.

The play was directed by Mildred Pearson.

Choir Sings For Caravans, Paratroops

The A Cappella Choir has entertained and has been entertained during the month of March. Representatives from Alabama, Florida, and West Virginia, here on the Trev-a-cades heard the choir sing several selections at the banquets given for them.

A very enjoyable day was spent at Fort Campbell, Kentucky, on March 22. The entertaining chaplain, Clifford E. Keys, Jr., son of our field representative, did everything possible to give the choir a profitable day. The singing group presented its entire program at both the morning and evening services on the Army Base. The Lord truly blessed as songs of His Praise were rendered.

Record Summer Enrollment Expected

Summer school is just around the corner! Would you like to earn up to a full quarter's credit during the summer? Do you care to study in air-conditioned comfort while the temperature climbs outside? More and more the Nazarene young people of our zone are making the decision to do just this. T.N.C. has adequate staff and facilities to meet your needs. Enrollments have climbed steadily for the past several years and it is expected that this year will surpass them all.

A wide variety of courses is offered in summer school. There are courses for beginning freshmen, courses to satisfy lower division requirements, courses that will count for ordination, and courses that apply on majors and minors. On the average, three or more courses will be offered in each department. The flexibility of the program permits the addition of new ones to meet student needs. The summer work is divided into two terms of approximately five weeks each. One may attend either term or both. The first term begins on June 3 and ends on July 14; the second lasts from July 15 to August 21.

If your plans are still open to suggestion, why not join the probable one hundred and fifty other T.N.C. students for summer school? Field trips, watermelon cuttings and other activities add zest to the rich possibilities awaiting you. Applications are now being received by the Dean of Admissions.

Dr. Gordon Sweet Visits Campus

On April 15 and 16, Dr. Gordon W. Sweet, who is the executive secretary of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, will be a guest on our campus. The visit will be on official business.

Dr. Mackey Speaks At Theological Convention

Dr. A. B. Mackey presented the devotional at a public meeting of the Evangelical Theological Society, April 3, at the Free Will Baptist Bible College in Nashville. At this meeting Dr. William T. Bruner of Louisville, Kentucky, presented a paper on "The Racial Headship of Adam."

Others from Trevecca attending the service were Rev. Charles Childers, and Rev. and Mrs. K. W. Phillips.

Dr. McClain Is Council Speaker

Dr. C. S. McClain, registrar at Olivet Nazarene College, is the speaker for the Student Council Lectures, April 20-24.

This series of lectures is sponsored annually by the Student Advisory Council with the aim of providing inspiration in various fields of cultural and professional interest.

During the lecture series Dr. McClain will be speaking in the morning chapel services each day, and in the Fine Arts auditorium each evening at 7:30. At the evening lectures he will be showing slides of literary interest that were taken in England.

In 1957 Dr. McClain spent five and one-half months in England and Scotland, visiting and photographing scenes of literary and historical association. He concentrated on the poets and novelists of "place" such as Scott, Burns, Wordsworth, the Brontes, and Tennyson.

Dr. McClain has been at Olivet Nazarene College since 1914, when he enrolled as a student. He has served as dean of the college, and at the present in addition to his position as registrar, he is head of the English Department.

Dr. McClain is the father of Miss Barbara McClain, professor in the Music Department here. Miss McClain has been on the Trevecca faculty staff since 1956.

When a good cause has been defeated, the only question that its advocates need ask is, "When do we fight again?"

—Dr. Charles W. Eliot.

What Is Life?

Spring—the time of year when all of us are prone to think and dream of the future. Spring always prompts memories, seals ties of friendship, and induces practical thinking with regard to a perspective and a philosophy of life. This is especially true of our seniors who are anticipating graduation this June. However, to all high school and college students, life should have become a serious matter. Like the little girl who was in a hurry because she had only one candle to burn, we need to realize the value of life.

Along the way it has been intensely interesting for me to note the feeling of others toward life.

Some may think of our lives as being “only animated bubbles that rise to the cosmic surface, glisten in the sunlight for a brief space, and then burst, leaving a nasty wet spot on the surface of things. There is at least one thing we know about life; it is brief. It is a meteor that flashes and quickly fades from sight.”

“Life, then, is like an evening spent around a campfire, where we tell our stories in good fellowship, but the night soon advances and we go to bed, sleepy and worn.”

“Life is a loom, weaving illusions.”

“Life is a long process of getting tired.”

O Henry is reported as saying: “Life is made up of sobs, sniffles, and smiles, with sniffles predominating.”

One of Shakespeare's characters said, “Life is as tedious as a twice-told tale, vexing the dull ear of a drowsy man.”

Absenteeism Is Harmful

This is the time of year when each teacher stresses the importance of being in each class every day. Missing one or two days during these last important weeks can put a student back days which he cannot afford. In the school handbook it is pointed out that pupils who miss school regularly cannot make the best grades. A look around at the most outstanding students proves this is true.

“It is a misery to be born, a pain to live, a trouble to die.”

“Life is a fretful child that must be played with until it falls asleep.”

“Life is not a lark. It isn't just a song even though it can have harmony and music.”

“Life is a long headache in a noisy street.”

A young high school girl committed suicide leaving a note saying, “Life is what you make it, but I could not make it.”

“Some people's lives are like a billboard; a bold front and a vacant lot behind.”

A certain magazine offered a prize for the three best definitions of life in a questionnaire sent to university students. The following are the answers which received prizes:

“Life is a disease with death the only cure.”

“Life is a bad joke which isn't even funny.”

“Life is a jail sentence for the crime of being born.”

The above quotations are the expressions of those who have not found Christ as the center and salvation of their lives. Those who have found Christ can certainly say, “Life wears a different face to me.”

Listen to the glorious apostle as he cries: “For me to live is Christ and to die is gain.”

Life is what we make it. Life can be beautiful and useful when lived with Christ. We should be thankful to God for schools like Trevecca that help us find salvation and establishment in Him who said, “I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life.” —Patsy Jones

The reasons students miss classes are many and insignificant. Although the most usual excuse is the common cold; the true reason is generally a dislike for school or certain classes or fatigue from having too many activities other than school work.

To solve this problem, the school authorities find it difficult to do anything. This is a matter of conscience.

Dolly—“Surely you're not going to let that redhead steal your boy friend!”

Polly—“Never! I'll dye first!”

Stay Awake At Controls

Six or seven persons are dead, and sixty more were sent to the hospital. This startling report was the result of a truck wreck. The truck was carrying eighty-five Mexican workers at the time of mishap.

The driver, a seventeen-year-old youth, confessed that he had fallen asleep while driving. Yes, some souls were dashed out into eternity and scores were hospitalized because one man fell asleep at the controls.

Jesus warned the Church about going to sleep. He said, “Watch ye therefore; for ye know not when the master of the house cometh, at even, or at midnight, or at the cockcrowing, or in the morning: Lest coming suddenly he find you sleeping.”

We are all in the driver's seat of eternal values. Others are depending on us; if we wreck our Christian faith along the highway of life we will cause others to be found in the wreckage. Will it not be sad indeed when we stand before the great Judge of the sky and have to report—I fell asleep in the driver's seat of eternal values.

First Florida Caravan Brings Forty Visitors

On March 24 and 25 there were forty Floridians visiting the campus. While here on campus they attended the usual conference where they were informed of the school plan and permitted to ask questions, and then given a tour of the campus. Since they had their own school bus, they used this to make a tour of Nashville.

The highlight of the tour was the banquet which was held Wednesday night in the college cafeteria. The theme of the banquet was “Pioneer Motorcade.”

Rev. Tom Reams from Miami Grace Church spoke in chapel Wednesday, March 25.

Other visiting ministers were Rev. Cooper from Jacksonville and Rev. William Blue from Fort Lauderdale First Church.

In the history of the school, this is the first caravan from Florida to visit our campus, but we all hope it will become an annual event.

Man cannot live without some great purpose outside himself.

Dean Attends

NYPS Conference

Dr. Homer J. Adams attended the Regional NYPS Convention, held at the Methodist Center on St. Simon's Island near Brunswick, Georgia, March 9-11. This is a historical spot. In fact, it is where John Wesley preached. It is a beautiful setting with wonderful weather. The delegates were so happy about the location that they voted to have the convention at the same place and about the same time next year.

There were about seventy people present: NYPS leaders of this zone, NYPS president, council members, Conquest campaign directors, and others. A large percentage of these are Trevecca alumni.

Problems on local and district levels, plans for the General NYPS Convention in 1960, and suggestions about new NYPS programs were discussed at the convention.

Rev. Lyle Parker, freshman, was representative from the East Tennessee District to the convention.

Dr. Adams made this comment about the convention, “It was a time of hard work but also a great blessing and accomplishment.”

Avoid Erroneous

Statement About Bible

Often erroneous statements are made in reference to the importance of Bible study in college. Are Bible courses crisp courses or needed only for those who plan to enter special fields of religious importance? Are they related to other subjects? Here are the facts.

The primary usefulness of Bible study in regard to curriculum is that of co-ordination. No other subject is related to so many fields as it is. In science it explains the origin of our earth and of the various things in it. Many laws, illustrations and examples give us a guide to life that would solve many of life's perplexities which often confuse us. Christ has often been called “The Great Psychologist,” and the Bible often shows the way to deal with others. There is a philosophy taught therein which is logical and also a definite, dynamic reality when applied. Of course, the Bible was originally written in Hebrew and Greek and by studying old manuscripts to gain insight the realm of foreign language is entered. History is dealt with from the beginning of time. Many governments are described along with their society and their fate related. The complete book is recognized as a masterful collection of various forms of magnificent literature.

C. W. A. Notes

by Pat Young

Christian work has proved a great source of blessing to many of our students. It provides good background training for ministers as well as for laymen. All Christians have a call to the duty of witnessing.

Martha Gray, whose work has been extensive in one of the rest homes, has expressed her feelings thus:

“Many times since coming to Trevecca I have stopped, as it were, for a cool, refreshing drink. These drinks come not from a physical well, but from spiritual wells found in Christian work over the week-end and Christian Workers' prayer meetings on Monday. Encouragement, renewed strength, and determination have been the results of these services.

I have visited the jails, workhouses, and the rest homes. I have seen people broken by sin and disease. They have made me to realize the awfulness of sin. They have placed within me a horror of sin and a determination to stay as far from it as possible.

I have seen the children at the colored Sunday school with hope and anticipation written on their faces as they look toward the future, and they have impressed upon my mind the fact that children are of importance in the kingdom of God.

Through the Christian Workers Association I have found that even while preparing myself for service to God, I can help in a small way to win souls.”

This personal testimony is an example of how God will bless when we take advantage of our opportunities. And what an opportunity is afforded us in Nashville!

The field of Biblical study covers all, explains all, is all. Should not a study such as this be advocated for all? Certainly! Positively! Definitely!

S. Carolina Caravan

Arrives April 1

On April 1 approximately twenty-five junior and senior young people from the South Carolina District arrived on Trevecca campus for a two-day visit. They were accompanied by several of the ministers and their wives from the district.

While here they were taken on a tour of the campus and attended a conference where they were given the opportunity to ask questions concerning the school. Some attended classes with their friends while others spent their time conversing with students and seeking information about the school.

The main event was the banquet which was well attended on Wednesday evening in the college cafeteria, featuring the dean of students, Rev. Leon Chambers, as the guest speaker.

The activities of the caravan were planned by members of the South Carolina Club.

MISS PEACH

(Beeter)

I trust all of you had a wonderful time during spring vacation. I heard that Jean Ledford and Barbara Barnett really did.

Melvin is still pining over the loss of his lover. In fact, he even shed a few real tears.

We still haven't decided whether to rename our college newspaper Joe-Echoes or Trev-Moses. Joe takes so many pictures.

Lois Conkey does a great job of singing the solo part in "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God."

Chloe Combs was caught unaware, Sunday, March 22, at Fort Campbell. She came to her senses with a jerk.

Margie Dover and Berma DuBose, both, can wear Prof. Unruh's coat. His coat served a two-fold purpose at Fort Campbell.

I hear that Peggy Jo Neal would like to go back to Fort Campbell. Linda Taylor is scared stiff!!

Helen Burch has a new name—"Pontius." She also has a new purse. Gene Reynolds said he was cute. Oh, Brother!! Some people's children.

We were very glad to have the South Carolina Caravan with us on the first two days of April.

The first fish to be put into the fish pond was Sylvia Young. The hero was Raymond Cowan.

Julia Mattlock! Are you working tomorrow?

We are very glad to see Pat Kohn back with us after a period of absence.

We're having so much fun on choir tour. Ha! Ha!

I'll be back in the next issue—so until then—Happy Trails.

P.S. Did you know that Professor Chambers has a hidden interest? His latest dissertation is on Beethoven. For more information ask him.

Joe Moses said for me to tell all the kids "hello" for him.

Joyce Woodard is a very happy "little" girl.

Cheer-up, Ann Fleming, Sue Hayes, Doris Sweeney, and Pat Kohn. Things could be worse.

Freda, how many hours a day are you spending on French? Or is your time being spent on "Human Anatomy"? That course always interested me.

We had a 'cat' on our bus the other day. If you are interested in knowing the story, just ask any choir member.

Courtesy(?)

Courtesy is the latest fad. Little things one does in public reflect one's home training. Many tragic divorces are caused nowadays by discourtesy on the part of either husband or wife.

Such was the case of Icabod Arrowhead Fruitcake, whose wife divorced him because he opened the door for her. This would have been perfectly all right, except that the door led to an elevator shaft.

Here are a few courtesy suggestions for the schoolroom:

Stamp your foot on the floor if you disapprove of a teacher's remarks.

Talk when the teachers are talking; they never have anything important to say.

Stick as much gum as possible under the cafeteria tables; they are about to fall apart.

Never throw paper in the waste basket; leave it on the desk or drop it under the desk.

Mark on the classroom chairs, especially with ink on the light oak ones, as they will show your art work better.

Always think of yourself first; this helps develop your ego which is a must for successful living in this atomic age.

Having been poor is no shame, but being ashamed of it is.

—Benjamin Franklin

The pen is mightier than the sword.

—Bulwer Lytton

Progress Is Made

It should be of interest to our constituency that each of the above leases is being financed out of funds borrowed from our bank and secured by the campus land that is not being used for educational purposes. The money that our field representative, Mr. Keys, is raising for new instructional buildings is not being used in our endowment program.

The college needs an added income of $4,000.00 each year to meet requirements for membership in the Southern Association. With the buildings that we have and with the budgets, we are close to meeting the requirements. Pray and give that we may acquire one additional building.

The other Nazarene colleges do not have to have an invested endowment. This requirement makes it difficult to get into the Association, but it will make the college stronger.

The Scott building cost about $65,000.00. If it had been contracted it would have cost much more. It was built under the direction of our business manager, Mr. V. Neil Richardson. No one could have done a better job. Our entire educational zone would like to say, "Thanks, Mr. Richardson, for a superb job."

Science Club Builds Campus Fish Pond

Have you noticed a large hole in the ground on center campus? No, I'm not talking about all the ditches that have been dug recently. What I mean is the future fish pond, a project of the Science Club. If you had been strolling around on the campus Saturday afternoon, April 4, you probably would have seen members of the Science Club leveling off the ground, placing stones and planting pansies around the fish pond. After the cement has had a chance to set, we plan to supply it with fish. Besides being a beautiful spot on campus, it will also be a source of water for our squirrels.

Doozy Duds

by Carolyn Wiley

Spring is actually here. Even the weatherman is trying to prove it by giving us some beautiful weather. The girls are getting in the mood for it by donning spring clothes.

Paisley prints in summer weights are now the rage; and the colors are beautiful shades of pink, green, blue, and orange. The fashion trend this spring seems to be "full-skirted" dresses, although sheath dresses are still popular here on campus. We are told that white gloves are "the right thing with everything," while other accessories tend to be in monotone with the rest of the outfit. Even matching shoes are seen more and more.

Since we are still having some cool weather, many dresses with matching or contrasting jackets are seen. Edith Mingleford has a brown paid jacket and LaNell Cowan has a neat navy dress with a polka-dotted jacket. Marilyn Stucki has a matching dress and jacket of a dark blend paisley print.

Cotton satin is on the scene again. Joyce Woodard made herself a cute dress of this material in a green and white print.

Mildred Pearson really got in a sewing spree while she was home and she has several beautiful dresses to prove it. One is an orange blend and another a blue-green mixture, both very pretty and very full.

Bess Pearson was seen wearing a white and "new-shade" pink print sheath dress which had a wide matching pink cummerbund and formed a sash in the back.

Hats are prettier than ever this year. Flowers are seen quite frequently; some hats are even completely covered with flower petals. Then there are hats like Marilyn's. I wish I could describe it, but words can't express how cute and "different" it is. Get her to model it for you.

Helen Burch and Sylvia Young look very dressed up in their printed crepe dresses. Helen's is black and white and Sylvia's is black and green.

The newest "novel" material this spring is "hap-sacking." It is a loosely woven heavy linen type material and comes in solids and prints. It is used to make dresses as well as dusters. It's the latest and very different.

Meanwhile, let's get in the mood for spring. Buy something new if it's nothing more than a blouse or shirt (boys!); it will lift your spirits and make you feel like a new person.

When Grandma lost her glasses, she usually found them perched on her forehead. When a Northern Oklahoma junior college coed lost a contact lens, her classmates had swept a whole room clean before she found them—on her upper eyelid.

Efficiency is not doing the unusual well but doing the usual unusually well.

The main thing you should save for is your old age.

Miss Perry Is Hardy Hall Head Resident

This is her life—Miss Marie Perry! The general of an ambitious troop, along with being the substitute mother for sixty-two daughters. Head resident for the girls of Hardy Hall—this is her life!

Miss Perry came to Trevecca in 1956 from Clarksville, Tennessee, to serve at her post of duty. Being the "keeper" of a dormitory, she is always a very busy person. Even in her own abode, she is seldom found alone. Both the fellows and girls enjoy meeting with her for fellowship, fun, and even advice.

Along with the duties of head resident, Miss Perry has many other "extra-curricular" activities. During the school year she serves as a math teacher in Trevecca Elementary School. For the past four summers she has traveled with a trio for the college, helping Mr. Keys in his "field" work for the school. She has also made two Florida tours.

Miss Perry came to Trevecca for the first time in 1944 as a student. She completed her work and graduated in 1948 with an A.B. degree. Religion as her major field has been a great asset to both her life and others.

She was a very active and well-liked student while here at T.N.C. She sang with a well-known trio, "The Glad Tidings," all of her four years in college.

Following her graduation she continued singing with the trio for about six months. She was also in the evangelistic field, prior to fourteen months pastorate in a home mission church. The five years previous to her coming to Trevecca in 1956 were spent serving as assistant pastor and youth director to Dr. Greathouse at the Clarksville First Church.

Information Ready For High School Seniors

We are eager to get in touch with every high school senior in this Southeastern Zone. We have some exciting information to mail to each one. If you are in high school this year and will graduate next June, please write to Mr. Clifford E. Keys, field representative of Trevecca Nazarene College, giving your name and your address, so that you may be placed on our mailing list. We will welcome an opportunity to keep you in touch with your church college.

Chatter Box

By Charles Kirby

At the time of this writing the sports program on the hilltop is at a stand-still awaiting the opening of the softball season which is due to begin the third week of this month. Just as the basketball season proved to be a very successful one, we are looking forward for a good softball season.

TEAMS AT A GLANCE

The Deltas have finished second in everything thus far in this school year, but should have very little trouble in capturing the softball title. They will be led by the brilliant pitching of Harold Hughes. Harold is perhaps the most outstanding pitcher in Trevecca's history. He has an assortment of pitches that make any pitcher a greater asset to his team. The Deltas should go through the season without a set back. At least they should bring in the trophy at the end.

The Alphas will be out to grab their third championship of the year. Perhaps their greatest hope will rest upon the pitching of James Spruill. We will have to pick them to finish second to the Deltas.

The Betas have had a lot of bad breaks this year, finishing in the cellar in both football and basketball. They will be fighting the Alphas to take over the runner-up spot in the standings.

MAY DAY EVENT

The time is fast approaching for the annual May Day events. For those who like track this has proved to be a very interesting affair. This year's event should be the best that we have had at T. N. C. And with everyone helping and participating we can make it the best; so we are counting on everyone to help.

ENTHUSIASM AGAIN!

With the softball season on its way, we want to impress upon everyone to continue with the spirit of enthusiasm that existed at the end of the basketball season. The diamond is in reach of everyone and there shouldn't be any excuses made about the distance of the field from the dorms. Come and enjoy the spring sunshine and support your team. Everyone needs a good dose of Vitamin D.

THIS AND THAT

Word has been buzzed around about making the grass covered tennis court into a badminton court. Since tennis appears to be out, the writer thinks that badminton would be a good replacement since the game doesn't require the skill as tennis, yet it is played on the same order. It would give almost everyone another pastime during the spring and summer days of sunshine.

Schedule

The 1959 Softball season opens April 20 at four o'clock with the Betas going against the Deltas. The remaining schedule is listed below.

April 20—Delta vs. Beta
April 21—Beta vs. Alpha
April 23—Delta vs. Alpha
April 27—Alpha vs. Beta
April 28—Alpha vs. Delta
April 30—Beta vs. Delta
May 4—Delta vs. Alpha
May 5—Beta vs. Delta
May 7—Alpha vs. Beta
May 11—Delta vs. Beta
May 12—Beta vs. Alpha
May 14—Alpha vs. Delta
May 18—Alpha vs. Beta
May 19—Delta vs. Alpha
May 21—Beta vs. Delta

PLAY BALL!

This world's a diamond, with the bases laid,

And on it Life's great game of ball is played.

The teams are Human Beings versus Fate.

And Time's the umpire watching by the plate.

We're at the bat. Our purpose o'er and o'er.

To wield Ambition's club and try to score;

To try to solve the curve the pitcher throws,

And lam the sphere where not a fielder goes.

Some of us seem to bat with skill immense,

Knocking long homer o'er the deep field fence.

Others bunt infield hits, but wildly race,

And beat the ball down to the primal base.

Still others, though they strive their best, no doubt,

Fan wildly at the air and then strike out;

Then seek the bench, downcast, with visage, drawn,

Crestfallen, shamefaced, blue, ambition gone;

Or rag the umpire, growling like a bear;

"You robber! That decision wasn't fair!"

That's not the game! Be not a grouch or a quitter;

What though you're not a straight .300 hitter?

You've got another chance. Stand to the plate;

Grab tight your bat, get braced, and calmly wait!

Wait for a good one. Let the others rip,

And when it comes—now! lam it hard; and zip!

It's got to go! And so must you, old man!

Hike for the base, Keep going—yes, you can!

REV. GEORGE SCUTT, Pastor

Ideal College

Oh, to be a student

In a college in the sky;

In a college without homework,
And where classes are passed by;

In a college where the courses
Are all easy, never long,
And where spare time adds and lengthens,
And one can't get questions wrong.

Oh, to be a student

Where the finals never loom;

Where grades are always A-plus,
And the grads all "summa cum."

Alas, I am a student

In a college on the ground,

Where homework piles up thick and fast
And real live profs abound.

Here courses are all planned ahead

As hard as they can be;

Here the reading lists they give us
Stretch as far as we can see.

Yes, here I am a student

Where the finals always come.

And the grades aren't A-plus,
But I hear they do pass some.

Steal second! Good; Now, easy—not too gay!

There! Get a lead! A hit! Now you're away!

Keep on; Don't stop! Don't lose that dandy stride!

You've got to beat the throw in,
Slide, not, slide!

Hurrah! You did it! Score? Of course, you scored!

See—there's your tally marked up on the board!

And now you'll win the game—no doubt at all!

You just can't lose, old man, if you'll play ball!

(Read it again. There's a sermon there.) —Selected

Ping Pong Finals To Be Soon

During the second quarter, the Trevecca Athletic Association sponsored a ping pong tournament.

There were about twenty girls to enter the girls' singles. Those still in this part of the tournament are Roberta Stogner and Nelia Ann Lunn.

There were approximately thirty boys who entered the boys' singles. The winner of this section was Orval LeJeune.

There was also a boys' doubles section played. There were about sixteen boys who entered this. The boys still in this tournament are Melvin Welch and Wendell Poole matched against Jim Hampton and Arnold Spruill.

There was also a mixed doubles tournament played. There were about ten or twelve couples who entered this tournament. Those still competing are Roberta Stogner and Bob Cook; Nelia Ann Lunn and Arnold Spruill; and Nancy Sheridan and Bob Johnson.

These last few games will be played within the next three weeks.

POOR PUPIL

The teacher sent a note home with the boy: "Your son, Charles, shows signs of astigmatism. Will you please investigate and take steps to correct it?"

The next morning she received a note from the father who wrote: "I don't exactly understand what Charlie has done, but I've walloped him, and you can wallop him tomorrow. That ought to help some."

Your interest should be in the future because you are going to spend your life there.
