Janey Sue Little Presents Recital, "The Song of Ruth," February 13

Miss Janey Sue Little presented "The Song of Ruth" in her speech recital, February 13, 1959, in the Fine Arts Auditorium.

The script was taken from a cutting of the book, The Song of Ruth, by Frank G. Slaughter and scripture texts from the Book of Ruth. The organ music was provided by Miss Barbara McClain, and Miss Joyce Lewis assisted in songs. The ushers were: Mildred Pearson, Kelly Flannery, Linda Kolar and Dwayne Little.

The recital told the story of how an Israelite family found refuge and livelihood in Moab in the time of famine. The attempt to establish peace between the two nations brought open conflict when the king was murdered. God's power was manifested in the hour of trial.

In the next scene, Naomi and Ruth returned to Israel alone. During the harvest season, Ruth supported the small family and attended the harvest festival. She admitted her love for Boaz and Naomi planned to carry out an old Israelite custom to bring them together.

In the last scene war broke out and the armies marched forth. The conflict ended in triumph for the hosts of Israel.

Ruth was acknowledged as a daughter of Israel. As Boaz's wife she became the great-grandmother of David and thus the ancestress of the Christ.

Miss Little

At the close of her recital, Miss Little was presented with a gift from the Darda Staff and flowers from Jackson Phillips.

Following the recital, Miss Little was honored with a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Greene.

Out-of-town guests were Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Little and family. Rev. Little is serving his tenth year as pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Ludlow, Kentucky.

Valentine Banquet Has Record Attendance

The college cafeteria was changed into a garden in the Orient when the Sophomore Class presented the annual Valentine Banquet on Saturday evening, February 14.

The theme of the banquet, "Oriental Paradise," was carried out very colorfully. Japanese lanterns hung from the ceiling and the center pieces were of branches flanked with pink cherry and white apple blossoms. The main interest of the garden was a lake scene with a snow-capped mountain in the distance. A low stone wall gently traced the edge of the lake. The garden itself was graced with cherry and apple trees and a sparkling fountain.

An Oriental legend, a poem and songs appropriate for the occasion made up the program. Organ music was furnished throughout the evening for the 205 people that attended the banquet.

The final number of the program was "Cherry Pink and Apple Blossom White," by an octet with a trumpet solo by Gene Cook.

As the couples left the tables, they stepped from the reality of the garden into memories—to cherish now and in the years to come.

Dr. Samuel Young Speaks In Chapel

Dr. Samuel Young, general superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, was guest speaker in chapel on Wednesday, February 11. His text was taken from Hebrews 11:24-26.

Born in Glasgow, Scotland, Dr. Young was elected general superintendent in 1948. He has three sons who are all graduates of Eastern Nazarene College. His daughter is now enrolled in Northwestern Nazarene College.

One of the varied responsibilities of a general superintendent is to tour mission fields abroad. Dr. Young has been active in South America, Cuba, Puerto Rico, Barbados, and has made two trips to South Africa.

When asked what he thought the main needs of the church are, he said, "We need to enlist the laymen in the redemptive mission so that it will be a total impact on the world instead of just a few ministers and missionaries doing the work."

He added that a great step had been made in that direction when the church witnessed to 1.8 million souls during the Week of Witnessing.

Concerning the relationship of the world and the church today, he advanced the idea that, "The church is not limited to a favorable political situation to evangelize the world. But we do need to get the gospel out to keep many countries from destroying themselves."

Dr. Ludwig Is Special Speaker In Benson Lecture Series

February is an important month for many reasons, one of those being the Benson Lectures which will run from the 23rd through the 27. This has been a special feature of this month for several years. The special speaker this year is the Rev. S. T. Ludwig from Kansas City, Missouri.

Rev. Ludwig has been general secretary of the Church of the Nazarene, with offices at the international headquarters in Kansas City, since 1944.

He is widely-known as an administrator, teacher and author. He was associated with the work in Nazarene colleges for fifteen years and was president of Bethany Nazarene College prior to becoming general secretary.

Mr. Ludwig also is executive secretary of the Department of Education in the general church and secretary of stewardship. He is a part-time faculty member of the Nazarene Theological Seminary in Kansas City.

A contributor to religious publications, he is author of the book, Youth and the Church. For eight years, Mr. Ludwig was secretary of youth work in the denomination. In 1939 he was the Nazarene delegate to the World Youth Conference in Amsterdam.

Dr. Ludwig

A graduate of Olivet Nazarene College, Mr. Ludwig holds graduate degrees from Northwestern University and the University of Wichita. Bethany Nazarene College conferred on him an honorary doctoral degree in 1942.

Services will be held daily in the chapel and each evening at College Hill Church.

Rev. Howard Sayes Speaks In Chapel

The Rev. W. Howard Sayes was special speaker in chapel January 30. He is one of our missionaries to Trinidad, British West Indies.

Rev. Sayes, who has been in the States since August 16, 1958, told of his work in Trinidad where he is pastor, evangelist and Bible school teacher. Now he is touring the Tennessee District, mostly in the Nashville area. A Canada tour is also planned.

He is a native of Shreveport, Louisiana, and was graduated from Bethany Nazarene College and the Nazarene Theological Seminary.

Rev. Sayes, his wife, and son, Archie Ray, plan to return to the field around the first of August this year. Let's remember them in our prayers.

Holiness Convention Is Held At College Hill

"The Great Motivation for Consecration" was the theme for Dr. Samuel Young's opening message for the Holiness Convention. He used as his text II Cor. 8:9. "For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich."

The convention was held at College Hill Church, February 9-11, with services twice a day. Both of the zones in the Nashville area attended the convention, and on Wednesday evening the various churches brought their prayer meeting groups with them.

Holiness is certainly a theme that is never over emphasized, nor do we ever learn too much about this doctrine. It was a privilege to have Dr. Samuel Young as special speaker for this important convention.

Male Trio Tours Florida With Rev. C. E. Keys

On February 20, 1959, a male trio left for a tour of Florida which will last two weeks. Are You Guilty?

Thirty-nine, forty, forty-one. Yes, forty-one organ pipes in here. Now for the lights. I'll have to turn around for the back ones. Oh, oh, Paul's back there . . . and with Florence! He's so-o-o good-looking. Wonder how my hair looks in the back. . . Wonder if he knows I'm even living. . .

Could this be a sample of some of your thoughts in church? It was of one teen-ager.

Church can mean so much more than counting lights, and organ pipes and wondering about the impression you're making.

You can find God in church if you seek Him. Here are some ways to make church a time with God rather than a good time to wait out.

PRAY FOR THE SERVICE.—Ask GOD to help you and others find the things you most need during the hour.

BE REVERENT.—Whispering, chewing gum, writing notes—all are out if one really wants to worship.

Sing hymns in church and think about the words.

THINK OF THE SCRIPTURE READING AND SERMON AS GOD SPEAKING TO YOU PERSONALLY.—Many young people have found answers to their problems when God spoke through His book and the preacher.

PRAY WITH THE ONES WHO LEAD.—Sometimes when your mind wanders, it may help to repeat silently the words of the one praying and try to make them your own.

BE COURTEOUS.—It is ungracious to save a seat for someone. An unsaved girl was hurt this way with disturbing results. Share your hymnals. Fill the rows from the center, so folks won't have to crawl over you.

STAY AND PRAY THROUGH THE INVITATION.—Never be guilty of whispering or leaving or in any way keeping someone from making the greatest decision in life—that of finding Christ.

Invite visitors to come again—especially if one is near your own age.

To Be Or Not To Be?

This question has been often quoted since it was penned many years ago by Shakespeare. To be a bold adventurer or a coward? Of course, the more attractive is to be adventurous. Unfortunately, to many the term adventure connotes recklessness and risk.

For a Christian young person, however, the challenge is to adventure ever deeper into the secure and wonderful realms of Christian service; to be bold in following Christ and rejecting the world. Worldly temptations are numerous and powerful. It takes strength to resist them.

The world admires strength and courage, but is not capable of recognizing the power of God that can defeat all powers of evil. To the Christian, therefore, the question is to be or not to be a fearless, close follower of Christ, unflinching in the face of jibes from the world.

No Parking

Have you ever been guilty of complaining about the parking rules at Trevecca? Maybe a fine has ignited your disgruntled spirit. We all are prone to wonder, "Why can't I park in front of the Fine Arts Building just for one period?"

If this be your case, why not stop and think the matter through.

The freedom of parking anywhere gives an unsystematic appearance. This freedom is also hazardous for the students. Moving in and out between the parked cars could prove to be detrimental. This freedom creates the problem for visitors to find a parking place.

These and others are good reasons for our traffic and parking rules. Anyone who will stop and think will have to agree that the rules are for our own good.

Did You Know?

There are 214 students at T.N.C. preparing for fulltime Christian service; 142 preparing for the ministry; 31 studying to be missionaries; 14 preparing for medical work; 155 planning to be teachers; 37 studying in miscellaneous fields; and 99 who are undecided yet as to a vocation.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

At the close of the Fall Quarter, the Journalism Class felt quite strongly the need for more varied chapel services. Realizing that a more varied diet of inspirational and devotional services would be as valuable to the spiritual welfare of the students as a varied diet of good foods is to their bodies, a letter was prepared and sent to the Administration.

This letter was not one which was meant to find fault with our college, but rather to ask that the Administration consider programs which would hold to the same devotional nature which we cherish so highly, and in addition to provide a healthful balance in our weekly spiritual diet when interspersed with the preaching services which we need and love.

The Administration and Chapel Committee have acted very favorably toward the letter, and we have also seen a favorable reaction from the students following recent testimony services and talks by our dean and other visiting speakers on spiritually related topics. Other chapel programs, such as the musical lesson in Nazarene doctrine, directed by Professor Hammond, have been equally well received. These programs and the others still in the planning stage do not detract from the spiritual spontaneity which is characteristic of Trevecca chapel services. Rather, it is through these welcome variations that emphasis is added to the dynamic, revival-tide messages which are so spiritually upbuilding and vital to our Christian lives.

We of the Journalism Class, and, we believe, each of the student body, are deeply pleased and wish to publically express our appreciation. TO THE ADMINISTRATION, CHAPEL COMMITTEE, AND FACULTY, WE SAY THANK YOU!!! We want all to know how much we appreciate their kind reaction to our letter, their Christian spirit and guidance, and their interest and helpfulness.

Respectfully,
The Journalism Class

Attention!

So you can't see out of that old pair of glasses very well. You say you plan to get a new pair? Well, just what do you plan to do with the old pair? Halt! Before you throw those old spectacles away, just pack them up and send them to New Eyes For The Needy, Inc., Short Hills, New Jersey. NEW EYES is a non-profit, volunteer charity and would appreciate any contribution along this line that you might have.

Roberta Peters, Soprano
Is Guest At Symphony

An outstanding soprano from the Metropolitan Opera, Roberta Peters, was guest of the Nashville Symphony Orchestra on February 16.

Miss Peters gave the fourth in a series of six performances to be presented by the orchestra this season.

These programs which are given at the War Memorial Auditorium have been well attended by Trevecca students and have been enjoyed thoroughly.

Book Review

Rev. James W. Carty, Jr. religious news editor of THE NASHVILLE TENNESSEAN, cites the First Church of the Nazarene in Nashville as a model for other congregations in his new book off the press in November.

Carty's first book, "Nashville as a World Religious Center," drawn from the intimate knowledge he has built up in six years of close observation, shows the impact of Nashville's concentrated denominational headquarters, literature and schools on the religious world.

"Nashville is one of the four big centers of Christianity in America," he said. He named New York, Chicago and Philadelphia as the others.

The book shows how the convergence of religious educational institutions, students, ministers, meetings, literature and visitors upon Nashville builds up in geometrical progression to radiate forth new ideas, new interpretations and new energy for the devout.

Mr. Carty points out that the First Church of the Nazarene is one of the leaders in the Church of the Nazarene. This denomination was formed in 1908 as a merger of different groups. First Church here, organized in 1898, has become a model for other congregations in the denomination, and they have striven to emulate its achievements.

The book goes on to say that Trevecca Nazarene College, started in 1901, has trained many ministers and missionaries for service around the nation and world. The Reverend J. O. McClurkan founded it in 1901 and the present name was given the college in 1910.

Mr. Carty, a friendly bespectacled man of thirty-three with a pleasant sense of humor, holds the distinction of being the first man in the nation ordained as a minister of journalism.

C. W. A. Notes

By PAT YOUNG

Statistically speaking, 118 souls were saved last quarter through Christian work. In addition to this, 119 persons received spiritual help. There were 4,255 individuals ministered to, and approximately 75 workers participated each week.

For these numbers we thank God. But let us aim at even higher goals. To double the number of souls won last quarter would certainly be possible. However, there is a price to be paid in praying and giving of one's time. After all, when one works hard at a job the earnings are always more valued. And a good piece of merchandise is usually high in cost.

The conditions of all these 118 souls is not known today. Yet, if just a few really hold on and keep the victory it will be worth every effort put forth. Investments made for God and souls are not in vain. In sowing seed for God, the harvest can be bountiful!

A reminder to captains—an accurate and prompt report to the secretary, Nancy Sheridan, makes for a more accurate record.

Miss Betty Barnett

Edits "Junior Topics";
Former T. N. C. Student

Miss Betty E. Barnett, Trevecca graduate, is now serving the General Church in a great measure. Her appointments as of last year include being assistant director of caravans and camps, director of the Junior Society, and editor of Junior Topics and Guide's Compass, also office director of PALS. Her work consists mostly of program planning and office administration.

Betty, a native of Paris, Tennessee, later moved to Memphis. She earned the master's degree in education at Memphis State University.

Having been an active young peoples' worker on both local and district level, Miss Barnett is well qualified for her heavy responsibilities. She is also an ex-elementary schoolteacher. At present she is working at the Kansas City First Church Sunday School as supervisor in one of the high school departments.

On the Tennessee district Miss Barnett directed the girls' camp and served as N.Y.P.S. secretary for the Memphis Zone, plus filling other important places on the district.

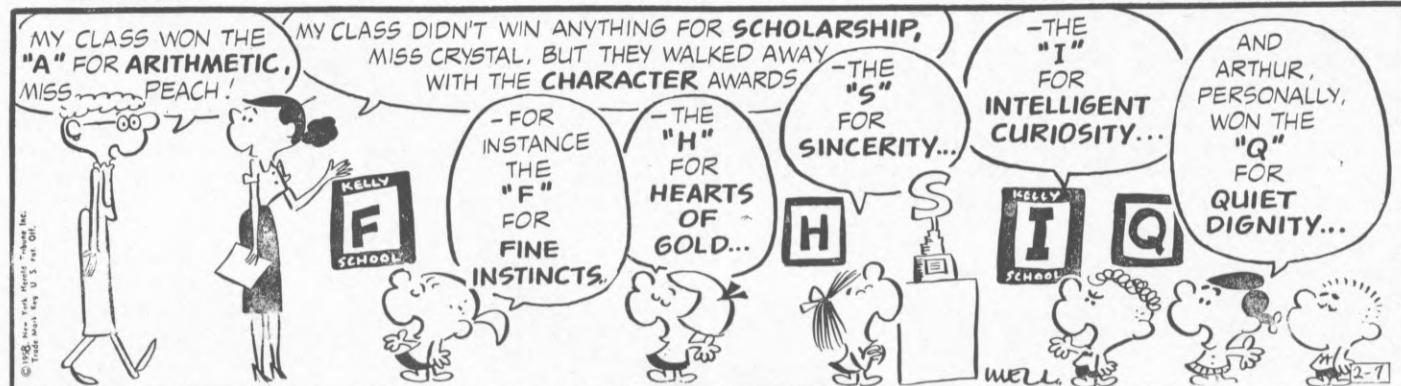

May God bless Betty in her present ministry.

MISS PEACH

Beetin' the Air

By Bess Pearson

(Beeter)

Hi! It's me again and I'm writing this in a very awkward position—lying flat on my back. But don't feel sorry for me because by the time this comes out I'll be walking around campus once again.

Bruce Haddix and Melvin Welch must have really liked McKay Hall because they asked some girls to lock them up in their room and the girls did!

Ed Sisson and Hugh Smith really made a haul on candy the night of open house.

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all you nice people who were so kind and helpful to me during my state of "invalidness." (How do you like that big word I used?).

Some people have all the luck in the world. Melba, show me how to foul out in a basketball game.

We had quite a few off-campus visitors the week-end of the Valentine Banquet. Among these were Dan Saxon, Kathryn Stover, Kay Hall, Al Wood and James Stewart.

Congratulations to Molly Mercer and Dan Saxon on their recent engagement.

The Littles came down for Janey's recital, "The Song of Ruth." We were very glad to see them again.

The boys' trio composed of Paul Jackson, Sammy Phipps and Herman Rouse left Friday, February 13, on their Florida tour. Let's remember them in our prayers.

I hear Marline Minix has quite a few new friends since she bought a 1956 Studebaker. If you want friends, just get a car!

Freda Johnson is walking on the air these days. Could Immanuel Church have anything to do with it?

I guess I must close because I'm getting tired. My back aches, to say nothing of my arms and shoulders. Did you know that three out of four doctors recommend anacin for fast, fast, fast relief. Well, so much for this bit of advertising.

Until next time, I'll be seeing you in all the old familiar places, the Ad Building, Fine Arts Building, McClurkan Building, etc.

Dr. William Slonecker Speaks in Chapel

Prepare for medicine at Trevecca. One doctor did!

Dr. William Slonecker, graduate of Trevecca Nazarene College and member of First Church of the Nazarene in Nashville, gave an effective talk in chapel, Monday, February 16.

During a week of career interests and choices, Dr. Slonecker was the chosen speaker for the medical emphasis. He disclosed some interesting facts concerning a doctor's inside life. Some of the qualifications, advantages and disadvantages he stressed were challenging to the students. He also pointed out several fields in the medical world that could be entered other than that of a doctor or nurse.

Dr. Slonecker finished his medical work at Peabody College and Tennessee University. Now in his twelfth year of training, he is serving as an intern at Mid-State Baptist Hospital.

When asked if he had his career to do over again would be still attend Trevecca, he replied, "Yes, I believe I would because I gained a Christian foundation there that I would not find anywhere else."

The darkness now seems absolute; Men before us have forgotten that it hides the morning star.

Choir Activities

By Marilyn Stucki

The A Cappella Choir had a busy schedule, Sunday, February 15. The group boarded the bus, driven by its favorite driver, Mr. "Brigham" Young, at 6:30 a.m. and were taken to Greer's Restaurant where they were served a hearty breakfast.

The morning service at Mayfield, Kentucky, began with the choir singing the Alma Mater, followed by the classical group of songs. This included "We Adore Thee," "O Thou in Whose Presence," "Glory to God," and the favorite, "Beatitudes."

Hymns and gospel songs composed the second group of numbers rendered. "To God Be the Glory," "A Name I Highly Treasure," "The Lord Is My Shepherd," "When He Shall Come," "Then I Met Jesus," and the favorite of this section, "I Know I'm Saved," were the selections sung at this time.

Rev. T. E. Jones, pastor of the Mayfield Church of the Nazarene, was the perfect host. A superb meal was prepared for the choir and the entire group enjoyed eating along with the members of the church.

At the two o'clock service, the choir repeated some of the favorites and also sang "Praise" and the negro spiritual, "Heav'n."

For variety, Rev. C. E. Keys asked three groups composed of choir members to sing for the large congregation. A male quartet whose members were Prof. Unruh, Gene Cook, Jim Hess and Joe Moses, sang "Oh Happy Day," "I Would Be Like Jesus," and "Jesus Is Always There." Next, a ladies trio, Lois Conkey, Yvonne Oakes and Marilyn Stucki, sang "A Miracle of Love" and "Jubilee." A mixed group sang "On the Cross." A male trio, Paul Jackson, Herman Rouse and Sammy Phipps, gave two selections, "If You Know the Lord" and an arrangement of "Everybody Ought to Know."

The Sunday evening service was at Old Hickory, Tennessee. The choir repeated its program for this audience and the Spirit of the Lord was felt. After the service, the choir members were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Rudd.

Coming events on the choir calendar are: an assembly program at Antioch High School, Antioch, March 4; and another trip to Fort Campbell, Kentucky, March 22.

McKay and Gibbs Have Open House

On Saturday, February 7, the girls of McKay and Gibbs Halls entertained guests with open-house. A program, "These Are Our Lives—10 Years Hence," was presented in the Fine Arts Auditorium. In it the public was given a "peep" at what the girls plan to do in the future. The theme of the entire evening was "Halls of Ivy." Following the program, refreshments were served in the Student Center. The guests were then allowed to take a tour through the dorms (amidst the animals).

The welcome mats are out awaiting your return—next year!

Bob Reid, Senior, Has Varied Duties

Bob Reid, a likeable college senior, has recently accepted a position as advance agent for the Singing Speer Family.

In addition to carrying a moderate college load until his graduation in June, Bob's new work is that of assisting the Speer Family in arranging and promoting concert dates. Working as a good-will ambassador and public relations man, he will call upon various civic clubs, church groups, community sponsors, and radio stations in cities and towns all over the central and southern United States in the dual capacity of booking agent and advertising specialist.

Bob's purpose and goal in this new work is "to keep in mind the high standards of the Church of the Nazarene and to coordinate these standards in gospel music."

The Singing Speers hold frequent revivals in addition to their heavy concert schedule. Next month they travel to Akron, Ohio, for a meeting in the new $2,000,000 Cathedral of Tomorrow, where Rev. Rex Humbard is pastor. This past year they were in a revival at the Davis Creek Church of the Nazarene in Charleston, West Virginia, and also toured the Iowa District with the district superintendent.

After a year at Mount of Praise Bible School in Circleville, Ohio, and two years at Taylor University in Upland, Indiana, Bob's schooling was interrupted by marriage. He and the former Mary Tom Speer, who sang with her family until four years ago, are now the parents of two lovely daughters. (Continued on page 4, col. 1)

Mr. Maurice Griggs, Jr. Is Chapel Speaker, Feb. 12

In the regular chapel service Thursday, February 12, the students and faculty were privileged to hear Mr. Maurice E. Griggs, Jr., of Taylor Impression Products, Nashville, Tennessee, give a talk which was inspiring and uplifting.

This was in keeping with the recent series of services pertaining to Nazarenes in the business world and in choosing a vocation.

Mr. Griggs spoke on a practical level giving some pointers for young people in choosing and planning their life's work, with God's help in guiding them. He also made some interesting comments on witnessing to those with whom we come in contact every day in the business world.

"Live, and then witness!" said Mr. Griggs. He stressed the importance of each person having a daily devotion to prepare his heart for following God's plans and preparing his heart for witnessing.

Mr. Griggs is at present serving as Sunday School Superintendent at First Church of the Nazarene in Nashville.

Rev. Herman Spencer Returns to Africa

Rev. Herman Spencer, missionary to Africa on furlough, has been teaching in the Education and Religion Departments at T.N.C. during the fall quarter, 1958.

Early in March, Rev. Spencer will leave with his family to return to Africa. Glaphre, their eldest daughter, will remain in the states and finish college at Trevecca.

Rev. Spencer is a graduate of Trevecca College, receiving the A.B. degree in 1946. He graduated from George Peabody College for Teachers, receiving the M.A. degree.

At Trevecca he has served as high school principal and dean of men. In Africa he has served as principal of schools and pastor of the church at Bremersdorp, Swaziland.

Everyone around Trevecca will miss Rev. Spencer. His wonderful spirit and humility have made an impression on the students. It has been a blessing to faculty and students to have him with us this short while.

Tuesday, February 17, the faculty honored the Spencers at a reception given in the Cafeteria. They presented them with the money to purchase a pasteurizer that will be useful to them in Africa.

Let us pray much for Rev. Spencer and his family as they return to the work in Africa.

Why T. N. C. Needs Gym

One of the things that Trevecca lacks is a gym. Instead of one little recreation room a gym would go a long way toward helping more students enjoy a time of fellowship together. The recreation room is too small. In a gym the students could play basketball, ping pong, badminton, and many other things that can't be done in the recreation room. Instead of paying out a lot of money for renting the Boys' Club gym, if Trevecca would pay that money on a gym of its own, a little later on it would have something to show for the money spent. A gym would be a very good thing for the high school physical education classes. On rainy and cold days it would give the classes a place to meet.

Science Club Activities

If you had been at the "Cottage" shortly after 5:30 Thursday evening, February 12, you would have seen a number of Science Club members thoroughly enjoying a Valentine Social. Amid the laughter and gaiety of the evening, club members could be seen participating in various well-planned games. Decorations in a valentine motif and refreshments consisting of punch and cake contributed to the festivities of the evening.

Some of the other activities of the Science Club this quarter have been to refill the fire extinguishers and sponsor a film, "Treasure Island." By the way—we hope you are making our "newest residents," a dozen squirrels, feel at home on T.N.C. campus.

Chatter Box

By Charles Kirby

Once again it is time to make an appeal for enthusiasm and team support. At the start of the basketball season, the enthusiasm began to build and continued to climb until we reached the second and third week; and then it began to drop. At the present there seems to be no spirit of enthusiasm whatsoever. At the last Delta-Beta game the boys had to play without any support. The stands looked very bare, and if it had not been for a few stand-bys they would have been completely empty. The boys played their best and came up with the most exciting game thus far this season. The game went into overtime, which always brings excitement for all who are watching.

It is very discouraging for the boys when they take the floor for a game and there isn't anyone there to cheer them to victory. The girls' games have been well attended, but when their game is over the crowd drops when it should remain the same or even increase. Let's get more team and school spirit and remain for the boys' game. Remember, they are playing their best to provide you a time of recreation and fun.

SEE YOU AT THE NEXT GAME!!

Alphas Overcome Deltas' Lead; March To Convincing Victory 46-34

The Deltas tried to make things difficult for the top running Alphas on three occasions during their contest of ripping the nets. Three times the Deltas led, once by three points, the other two times saw one point separate them.

The Alphas started fast, building up a 14-4 lead early in the first period. The Deltas called time to talk matters over, and when time was resumed they began to roll, hitting consecutive baskets to pull into the lead 19-18. However, this lead, as the other two, were short lived and the Alphas went on to win their sixth in a row.

Sisson was the leading scorer for the Alphas, gathering 22 points. Kirby led the Delta scorers with 10 points.

Girls' Basketball

By Kathy Hemmerly

The girls basketball season is quickly coming to an end, with the Deltas yet undefeated. The Delta girls have certainly displayed a lot of team work. However, the other teams still seem to be in high spirits and from all indications plan to shatter the Delta's record. The Alphas are in second place with the Betas in third.

The Deltas beat the Alphas, February 7, by a score of 35-15. Although there was a big margin in the score, the game was quite an exciting one.

An interesting game to look forward to is the All-Stars vs. Student Wives. The tentative schedule for this game is Friday, March 6. The girls tournament begins March 7. This should prove to be exciting and competitive.

Scoring Parade

It is still evident that there is a race for the scoring title. Ed Sisson continues to lead the pack by a good margin. The race seems to be a battle for the second spot with Cook and Kirby only one point apart. Below is a list of the top five, with total points and average, who have played in at least six games.

Deltas and Betas Battle In Overtime; Betas Are Victorious 68-64

The Deltas and Betas played unquestionably the best game of the season before a very small crowd at Lucy Holt Gym.

It was all Beta during the first half with the Deltas staying close enough to surge to a last minute lead at intermission, only to fall short 41-34.

After the first period the Deltas began to roll, hitting from the outside on several buckets to close the gap. In the final few minutes determination gripped the hearts of the Deltas to pull the game out of the fire and notch up a victory in the record books. Several fast buckets in a row saw the game go into overtime as the regular game ended at 60-60. During the three minute overtime the Betas hit for three baskets in a row while the Deltas were only hitting one. However, they did score once again while the Betas added another as the game ended 68-64.

Leading the Betas were Jim Hampton, who gathered the season's high of 34 points, and Stocks, who took team runner-up honors with 18 points.

The Deltas were placed by Charles Kirby's 25 points and Paul Jackson's 18.
